Index

This index follows a tradition begun in 1993 which featured a simple listing of articles and book reviews published in the Journal of Mennonite Studies during the preceding ten years of publication. This Index begins with articles under the heading ‘JMS Forum’, referring to peer-reviewed articles initially presented at the annual ‘Mennonite Studies’ history conference, typically held at the University of Winnipeg each October, the exceptions being the 2008 issue which featured papers from a conference hosted at Conrad Grebel University College and the 2012 issue consisting of papers from a conference hosted at Omsk F.M. Dostoevsky State University. This section is followed by those relating to General Research Papers, Book Reviews and Miscellaneous items. To facilitate rudimentary thematic research, the Index concludes by listing the various JMS Forums for 2003-2012 in chronological order. The index was prepared by Kelly Ross, Winnipeg.
