

Letters to the Editor

July 11, 2000

Dear Editor of the Journal:

Enclosed please find [the subscription and a donation]....I thoroughly enjoy the calibre of articles the Journal brings to my attention. I find the book reviews to be of special interest as they allow me to become aware of what is being published and relates to our Mennonite and Anabaptist heritage.

Allow me to bring to your attention the book I published two years ago: The Odyssey of Escapes from Russia. Part I gives some pertinent history of the nineteenth and twentieth century Russia and the events which led up to the eighteen different escapes out of Russia across the Amur River to Harbin, China in 1928-1932. Part II, The Saga of Anna K., is the personal story of one of these escapees. It would appear to me that some of your Journal readers would be interested in these stories....Mennonite Books in Winnipeg has copies of this book in their inventory. Plans are underway for a second printing.....

Most sincerely yours,
